Tax Collector's West Pasco Government Center Office To Once Again Offer Full Services at Renovated Location

The Pasco County Tax Collector's Office located at the West Pasco Government Center (8731 Citizens Drive, New Port Richey) will fully reopen on October 30, 2023, at 8:30 AM. All services provided prior to the renovation will once again be available to customers. While the office was being renovated it offered limited services. As of October 30, driver license and birth certificate services, which were not available during the remodel, will once again be offered. The renovations were performed to make the office more efficient and better able to serve our valued customers.

"We are excited that these important improvements to our West Pasco Government Center Office are being completed in time for the busy tax season which begins November 1," comments Tax Collector Mike Fasano. "Our goal as an organization is to make a visit to our office as easy and as simple as possible. The upgrades made during this remodel will make the customer experience even more streamlined. We appreciate the understanding of residents who live in New Port Richey, Port Richey, Hudson, and the other communities that generally utilize this office to meet their various needs."
